National Nutrition and Food Technology Research Institute

Cost-effectiveness regional study on nutrition interventions and their impact

This project is one of NNFTRI's activities as a WHO collaborating center. This activity was carried out at the national level as "A study program analysis, effectiveness and cost analysis of the multidisciplinary interventional program for improvement of nutritional status of children in Iran" which its report will publish as soon. It would be possible to do the systematic review of these data if we could access the necessary data for regional countries.

NNFTRI will also produce a comprehensive report to be submitted to WHO with the results of the systematic review focusing in particular on certain countries in the region to be decided by WHO.